

Beaver Ranger District Fuels Update Fall 2016

With the first snow of Fall the Beaver Ranger District Fuels Program is hoping to begin burning the numerous slash piles that have been created over the last couple of years across the district. Piles created in the last 6 months need at least one season of drying to allow for the material to cure enough to consume when burned. In some locations piles will be left to allow for adequate drying time.

The general locations of the slash piles include:

- Little Res area, approximately 25 acres.
- Merchant Valley, above the summer homes, approximately 15 acres.
- Along the private boundary on Grizzly Ridge, approximately 10 acres.
- Miscellaneous piles for the irrigation companies on the dams.
- Various single piles across the district.
